Rosary Hill Names Faculty Trustees

BEN 11/21/73
The Rosary Hill College Board of Trustees has elected the first faculty members to its board, effective immediately.

The new trustees are Patricia E. Curtis, chairman of the college's music concentration since 1957, and Dr. John B. Starkey, assistant professor of history at the college since 1966.

"The faculty members as trustees will add a new dimension to the board, not only as professional educators but also as insiders who are deeply concerned and affected by the board's policies," James M. Dillon, chairman of the board, said.

"Their input will be invaluable in charting the future course of Rosary Hill."

College Narrows Search for Leader

The Rosary Hill College presidential search committee, organized in May, 1973, is expected to make its final recommendation to the college Board of Trustees early in 1974.

According to John T. Maher, search committee chairman, the 16 member group is currently entering its semi-final stage conducting personal interview with nine remaining presidential candidates, selected from a field of over two hundred.

Rosary Hill boasts 400 males on campus

If there was ever a doubt that Rosary Hill College hadn't gone full co-educational, that doubt is now obliterated. In fact, R.H.C. has been coed for the last several years.

This year, however, with approximately 400 males, the largest number ever on campus, the fact is unmistakably apparent. Where once a certain degree of awkwardness surrounded the coed situation, there is now a homogeneity both in and out of the classroom.

The growth of coeducation came gradually to Rosary Hill. In 1965, when men were first admitted to the college, they were allowed to major only in art, medical technology or theatre arts. As the male contingent expressed the desire to branch into different curricula, the original restrictions were cast aside and the number of men on campus slowly began to increase.

The greatest single cause for the growth of RHC's male enrollment was provided by young men returning from South East Asia with a renewed perspective on the value of higher education and its relation to the problems of the world. In June of 1971, Rosary Hill became the first college in Western New York to establish an open admissions policy for veterans. Since that time scores of vets have been admitted to R.H.C. and as a group have become a vital part of the campus community.

The coeducational posture has been highly beneficial to the college. In a time of challenge for independent higher education, only those colleges with large endowments can remain viable as single sex institutions.

However, the question goes deeper than that. According to Dr. Alfred Zielonka, Acting President of the institution, even if R.H.C. had a large endowment, the coeducational posture would have been adopted as a step to strengthen the college.

Dr. Zielonka points out the fact that "Expression of the male attitude and point of view is as intrinsic to the classroom as it is to society." He added that since the aim of higher education is the development of the total individual, both an education and a social experience is necessary. "Coeducation brings R.H.C. closer to the natural living and learning experience."

The students, themselves, are overwhelmingly in favor of coeducation. However, for the most part, it is accepted as the natural course of events. Few students presently on campus

New Group at Rosary Hill Aids Library, Arts Center

By GRACE GODDARD

The Silver Circle of Rosary Hill College, a new organization formed during this 25th anniversary year of the college, is dedicated to the enlargement of the college library and a construction of a fine arts center. Formation of the circle was announced on Thursday at a press luncheon at the college in Main St., Snyder.

The Silver Circle Committee, headed by Mrs. Kurt Klein, Mrs. Marie Corcoran and Mrs. Lucile Kinne, will sponsor a champagne reception from 6:30 until 8:30 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 21, to inaugurate a series of events. The reception in the Charles J. Wick Campus Center will be highlighted by presentation of a specially minted silver pin denoting membership in the Silver Circle.

Art, Music Planned

The evening also will feature an exhibition of art works of Lisa Krauss, Buffalo artist, and a string ensemble of college musicians.

Future events now in the planning stage include a "Food for Thought" luncheon and a "Parsian Festival of the Arts."

A date has not yet been designated for the luncheon, but the festival is planned for late June and will include transformation of the campus into as nearly as possible a replica of the Left Bank of Paris. The stream flowing through the campus will be the setting's "Seine River." Art displays, Punch and Judy Shows, a carousel, flower carts, strolling musicians, sidewalk cafes and other French-flavored decorative effects are presently under discussion by the circle's 29-member Decorations Committee.

Changes Noted

"Rosary Hill has come a long way since its founding a quarter-century ago as a Catholic women's college, admittedly of the more exclusive and perhaps secluded 'white gloves' type," explained James Perine during a press luncheon on Thursday at the Wick Center where circle plans were divulged and discussed.

"This is no longer a Catholic College, although there are nuns on its faculty. The 'white gloves' are no longer in evidence, but a determination to secure a superb education is evidenced by a student body that's presently about 29 per cent male.

"This whole place is extremely community minded, and our new evening courses especially testify to the fact that the community is interested in Rosary Hill. We're not merely trying to keep pace with changing times, we're striving to keep steps ahead."

Mrs. Klein expressed gratification at the cordial response of circle members already enrolled.

Committee Members

In addition to the three chairmen, the Silver Circle Committee includes Miss Gladys K. Drewelow, Miss Joyce E. Fink, Miss Mary Lu Littlefield, Sister Marita Lannan, OSF, and Miss Allalee A. Babbidge.

Also, Mesdames Alfred E. Anscombe, Harry Blum, Earl W. Brydges, James M. Dillon, Frank X. Fink, Alfred Greenberg, Sheldon T. Lenahan, George J. Measer, Richard J. Metz, Robert A. Miles, Harry Rachman and Meyer Riwehchun.

Also, Mesdames Perine, Edward V. Regan, Thomas Schwab, David Simon, Clayton Stahlka, Paul A. Willax and Alfred W. Zielonka.

Rosary Hill Sets Parley On Amnesty

A daylong conference on "Healing our Nation's Wounds" will be held next Saturday starting at 9:30 a.m. in Rosary Hill College 4380 Main St., Amherst, by the Amnesty and Reconciliation Coalition (ARC).

Bishop Thomas J. Gumbleton, auxiliary bishop of the Archdiocese of Detroit, will speak. Mrs. Louise Ransom, chairwoman of Americans for Amnesty, who lost a son in Vietnam, also will speak. Workshops on amnesty, Indo-China reconstruction, veterans' needs and minority community concerns will also be featured.

ARC is a group of 13 Protestant, Catholic, Jewish and community groups.

Rosary Hill first college naming faculty to board

Miss Patricia E. Curtis, 7 Burbank Dr., and Dr. John B. Starkey, 4430 Main St., both of Snyder, have been elected to the Rosary Hill College Board of Trustees.

Miss Curtis is the chairman of the Rosary Hill College music concentration and Dr. Starkey is currently an assistant professor of history at the college.

Rosary Hill thus becomes the first college in the Western New York area to add active faculty to its Board.

In making the announcement, Board Chairman James M. Dillon stated, "The faculty members as Trustees will add a new dimension to the Board, not only as professional educators but also as insiders who are deeply concerned and affected by the policy making function of the Board. Their input will be invaluable in charting the future course of Rosary Hill."

You recognize this room, right? It's Rosary Hill, so what? Wait a minute — there's something missing here —

the people

challenge and change — rosary hill may never face as much as the next several months and years will inevitably provide. the crucial question, it seems to us, is not whether rhc can survive, but how well. we dedicate this yearbook to that ideal of excellence that we often lose sight of when faced with mundane dilemmas such as balancing budgets, etc. look again at the page before this and note well what it shows — people — spirited people.
thank you.
